Foreword

Eric Bulmer Chairman of Wardens

One of the tasks of an outgoing Chairman of the Wardens is to look back at the previous year and provide an overview of events and related issues for the benefit of the membership.

2019 was a very challenging year for the Freeman

The use of the Sands to accommodate the new County Council Headquarters has been a major issue throughout the year and the Freeman's determined opposition to the council plans has been clearly set out on our website. Unfortunately our endeavours were unsuccessful and planning consent was granted. Further details can be found in the Chairman of the Trustees report within the booklet.

The continuing difficulty in attracting members to step forward as Wardens and take an active involvement in the management of our organisation, has been a constant concern since I accepted the role of chairman in 2015.

My 3 year tenure of appointment as Chairman of the Wardens was completed in 2018, but unfortunately none of the present Wardens felt able to take on board the role of chairman. To address the impasse, I agreed to remain chairman for a further year so that a strategy could be developed that would ensure the sustainability of the management of the Freeman.

The Wardens addressed the issue by asking the membership to support their strategy to sustain the effective management of the Freeman. This was achieved when members voted overwhelmingly in November to accept the proposed Sustainability Paper and endorsed the wardens approach in dealing with this extremely difficult situation.

I subsequently stood down as Chairman of the Wardens on the 3rd of December.

As a consequence of the implementation of the Warden's strategy, a number of members have since indicated that they wish to be involved. This places the organisation in a much better position to deal with a challenging future that lies ahead. From this group, it is envisaged that we will be able to appoint Deputy Wardens, thereby expanding the management team and sharing the workload. Further information regarding Deputy Wardens can be found within the booklet.

A number of changes in management took place in 2019. Bob Elliott resigned as Warden of the Masons Company and Membership Secretary and Joe McElwee resigned as Warden of the Cordwainers' Company. On behalf of the Wardens I would wish to take this opportunity to thank them both for their past service to the Freemen.

I am pleased to report that Alan Metcalf was elected as the new Warden of the Cordwainers' Company. A profile of Alan can be found later in the booklet. Iain Wilmshurst agreed to continue as a Warden of the Curriers' Company and was re-elected unopposed.

The Annual Dinner was a great success even accounting for a last minute change of venue to the Masonic Hall. My thanks to the Wardens and particularly John Booth for responding so positively under extremely difficult circumstances.

During the year we welcomed 6 new Freemen into our ranks and the current membership now stands at 251.

Sadly, I have to report the death of a number of Freemen in 2019

Arthur Stonebridge (Barbers' Company)

Beverley Renwick (nee Vickers) (Masons' Company)

Thomas Robert Bulmer (Plumbers' Company)

Their obituaries can be found later in the booklet.

I hope you find the Yearbook informative and interesting and I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Wardens and Trustees for their support support and most of all to the membership for their endorsement of the work and development undertaken by the Wardens on their behalf, in what has been an extremely challenging year, but I firmly believe that we are now in a position to move forward with a sense of optimism and renewed energy.

A Message from the Worshipful Mayor of Durham County Councillor Katie Corrigan

Whilst the Durham City Freemen predate the Mayor by a few hundred years, the organisation is just as vital today to the life of the City as it ever was. Not only am I truly proud to be from Durham but also to be the youngest ever Mayor in the City's history. I am also just as proud to be associated with the Freemen.

Every year, The Freemen continue to support the Mayor with a substantial donation to their chosen charity. My charity is The Cheesy Waffles Project based in Belmont. This project is a provision for children, young people and adults with additional needs from across Durham; age 6-30 years. The enriching activities they take part in helps raise self-esteem and confidence and supports with the transition into a happy and independent adulthood. Your recent donation to my charity is very much appreciated and rest assured it will be put to good use.

I wish the Freemen all the best for 2020.

Councillor Katie Corrigan

The Right Worshipful the Mayor of Durham

New Warden of the Cordwainers' Company

Alan Metcalf

Alan started his working life as an apprentice motor mechanic in the Adams and Gibbon garage in Claypath in 1973. After successfully completing three years training he later went on to work in garages in Langley Moor, Sherburn Village, Esh Winning and Crook before setting up his own taxi business. He left after nearly a decade to take up a job with the National Car Parks in Durham in 2001.

Two years later he was appointed the organisation's supervisor in Sunderland and then their North of England Training Officer, the job also embracing parts of Lancashire, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

There then followed spells in a telephone call centre and a council CCTV centre in Chilton before he took up his latest post, offering face-to-face advice to members of the public on a range of issues including council tax and housing benefits.

Alan and his wife Judith, a county council financial resources co-ordinator, live near Durham. Between them they have two daughters and two sons from their first marriages – and a total of seven grandchildren.

Alan has an interest in men's mental health and in his spare time attends a support group in Spennymoor whose members suffer from depression and other related issues. He also has a keen eye for photography.

Candlemas Guild Day 4th February 2019

Durham City Mayor John Lethbridge and Alan Metcalf

The 62-year-old grandfather's walk, of a little more than 100 yards from his current workplace in Clayport to the Town Hall, completed the circle in a long working life that started as an apprentice motor mechanic just a few yards further away in the Adams and Gibbon garage in Claypath in 1973.

There then followed spells in a telephone call centre and a council CCTV centre in Chilton before he took up his latest post, offering face-to-face advice to members of the public on a range of issues including council tax and housing benefits.

Alan has an interest in men's mental health and in his spare time attends a support group in Spennymoor whose members suffer from depression and other related issues. He also has a keen eye for photography.

Gentlemen Freemen Admitted

The service of three former trustees was acknowledge by the Freemen when they were invited to join the ranks of Gentlemen Freemen.

Gentleman and Lady Freeman is an award conferred on individuals, in recognition of a significant contribution they have already made in supporting the work of the Freemen.

An important point to note is that these awards are granted by invitation from the Wardens .

Durham City Mayor John Lethbridge and Norman Hart

For most of his working life Norman worked as a solicitor in the city, not a stones throw from the Guild Hall. During his long legal career, he was for more than a decade, the city's Deputy Coroner,

Norman resigned recently as a trustee of the Freemen, and for the last two years he held the office of chairman.

He was vice-chairman of Finchale Training College for many years and a trustee of the Durham Union Society. He also sat as a member of two health service trusts and the Abbeyfield Society and remains a Rotarian in the city.

Gardening remains his key leisure activity after he surrendered his interest in motoring racing when he sold his rare 1936 MG which he drove, when occasion allowed, at Brooklands and Croft. The car had appeared at the Goodwood Festival and featured on television in one of the Father Brown Series.

Durham City Mayor John Lethbridge and Alan Ribchester

After leaving the Durham Johnston Grammar School in 1963 with three A-levels, he was articled to a large firm of chartered accounts on Tyneside until he qualified four years later. In the early 1970s he took charge of his own company in Durham, operating for many years from offices in Saddler Street.

When he became a trustee of the Freemen, Alan's experience was immediately called on to steer the organisation through new Charity Act regulations to qualify for charitable status – a move which significantly increased the freemen's ability to offer financial support to a wide range of organisations across the city.

Alan resigned recently after serving as a trustee but continues to support the organisation as a member of the Freemen's Charitable Trust. The Freemen have benefited from his expertise in accountancy for many years and continue to do so.

For 30 years Alan was District Treasurer of the Durham Scouts, the Durham Citizens Advice Bureau and a Director of the Indoor Market where he remains Company Secretary. For more than two decades he has been Treasurer of the Shakespeare Temperance Trust in North Road and a Trustee and Honorary Treasurer for Durham Rotary Club. He has also been a long-standing Trustee of Durham Union Society and member of the Finance Committee of the Governors of Northumbria University.

Alan remains a member of the Mayor's Bodyguard.

Durham City Mayor John Lethbridge and George Oliver

George started work as an indentured trainee journalist in the city in the mid-1960s and over the years his work has been widely published in regional and national newspapers. He has been a contributor to both regional radio and television and was also involved in the BBC's expansion of the local radio network in the late 60s, producing broadcast material and interviews for Radio Durham – the experimental forerunner of current stations on Tyneside, Teesside and Cumbria.

In 1986 he was directly commissioned into the Light Infantry and was one of the first journalists recruited by an expanding part-time specialist unit, now known as the Army's Media Operations Group. Assignments took him across the UK and mainland Europe until he left the Army ten years later.

For 17 years, until his retirement in 2009, he managed Durham Constabulary's Press and Public Relations unit and received unsolicited awards from north-east journalists and a commendation from Durham's Chief Constable.

Although George recently resigned as a trustee where he held the post of official Freemen Press Officer, he continues to offer his valued expertise and support to the Freemen which is very much appreciated,

In retirement George continues to pursue a life-long interest in fishing for trout, sea trout and salmon.

Lammas Guild Day 5th August 2019

Durham City Mayor Katie Corrigan and James and Alex Watson Lee with their parents after becoming Freemen

Following a family tradition Alex and James were honoured to be admitted as Freemen.

Alex and James were born in Dorset and were pupils at Ballard School in New Milton and then at Canford School in Wimborne.

Alex studied History at Birmingham University and is now studying for his Law exams at the University of Law in Guildford, while James took a different path studying management at Warwick University, qualifying as a chartered accountant and now lives in London. When he is not working Alex enjoys music and running, while James pursues several interests including cooking and sport, where he enjoys playing football for his university team.

The family's membership of the Drapers Guild has been passed on for many generations. They have the Admission Certificates going back for five generations to their three times great grandfather Williams Lee who was admitted in 1831 and research shows that they can trace their family back to their eight times great grandfather Roger Lee who was admitted to the Drapers Guild in 1705. It appears many of those admissions took place in the same Guildhall James and Alex's ceremony.

It is possible that the Freemen in their family go back beyond that time and indeed their family folk lore, is that they became Freemen due to an ancestor fighting in the Battle of Neville Cross in 1346.

Durham City Mayor Katie Corrigan and John Latue

John who is the latest city craftsman to join the Plumbers' Company, lives on the outskirts of Durham and started his working life in 1963 working as an apprentice for Fred Dennison. He stayed for five years before moving on to work for other plumbing companies in Durham.

In the late 1970s he changed direction and began supporting specialist security services for Barclays Bank. He worked in branches in Darlington, Durham and Stockton, before switching to the centralised Complex Queries Department based in Middlesbrough.

Both he and his wife Ivy are experienced scuba divers, skiers and John even tried his hand as a crew member on a racing yacht. The couple also completed the Great North Run for ten years.

Their adventurous pastimes are long behind them and they now concentrate on less hazardous adventures.

In retirement they both enjoy hillwalking in the Lake District and the local dales, ballroom dancing and trips to the theatre.

Martinmas Guild Day 11th November 2019

Mark and Rachel Vest

Mark and Rachel Vest's decided to honour their father's memory, by following him into the Drapers' Company nearly 20 years after his death.

They both decided they wanted to honour the memory of their dad Robert, who died in 2000 and grandad Charlie, by becoming Freemen and joining the rest of their immediate family. Their dad was 21 when he was sworn in and he had followed in the footsteps of his own father.

Mark, from Gilesgate, has recently successfully gained qualifications that he hopes will lead to work as a nursery assistant.

Rachel, who lives in a village near Durham works in a dispensing chemist's shop on outskirts of the city.

Deputy Wardens Initiative

In a continuing drive towards the sustainability of the Freeman through the involvement of members to support the management of the organisation, the Wardens have decided to introduce the category of 'Deputy Warden' into the management structure of the Freeman.

This strategy is designed to enable Freeman to be targeted, who have the skills, interests and desire, to take an active role in the management and development of the Freeman.

The Important feature of this strategy, is that individuals will be 'targeted' in contrast to the elected position of Warden.

The aims and benefits of this initiative are two-fold;

1. Strengthening and sustaining the management group.
 - a) To increase the numbers within the management team, so that the increasing workload can be shared.
 - b) To enable Wardens to have the support of a another member from their Company, who will deputise when they are unable to attend meetings/ functions.
 - c) To bring fresh ideas, stimulus and skills to support the management team.
2. Engagement and involvement with the membership.

To provide members with an opportunity to witness the management of their organisation and garner experience that will ultimately result in them wishing to apply to become a Warden in due course.

Obituaries

Beverley Renwick (nee Vickers) - Masons' Company

Died 8th September 2019

Beverly Renwick made history when she became one of the first women to be admitted as a city Freeman in February 2012– ending a 700-year-old men-only tradition.

Beverly served an apprenticeship as a stonemason with Durham University and for part of her training she was seconded to Durham Cathedral.

While most women will be sworn in through patrimony, Beverly qualified because she served her time as a crafts person and entered the Freedom through servitude.

Thomas Robert (Tony) Bulmer - Plumbers' Company

Died 24th December 2019

Tony was proud to follow a family tradition of four generations of Freemen when he was admitted in November 2018.

Tony was born in Durham City before moving to Framwellgate Moor where he attended the local school.

Although only a freeman for a short time his family legacy will continue through his daughter Sheila who will be admitted as a Freeman at Lammas Guild Day in 2020.

Arthur Stonebridge - Barbers' Company

Died 17th February 2019

Arthur Stonebridge a Framwellgate Moor lad was an apprentice with Billy Fenwick who had a painting and decorating firm based in Crossgate. Arthur developed into a very skilled decorative craftsman , specialising in signwork and heraldry.

He went on to become an acknowledged expert in heraldry not only in Durham but extended his expertise beyond the county.

He will be remembered for his encyclopedic knowledge of the history of the county families of Durham.

Chair of the Trustees Report

Twelve months ago, I suggested 2018 had been an eventful year. It is probably fair to say 2019 has been challenging for trustees, as they have sought to fulfil their primary responsibility of safeguarding the Freeman's assets.

During 2018, as reported last year, Kier Developments had submitted a planning application for the construction of a new civic headquarters on the Sands, which aroused considerable public comment and led to over 1000 written objections. Though no longer the landowner, the Freeman have an historic interest in the Sands and retain certain rights of common and herbage.

A working group of trustees examined the application in detail, had discussions with the developers and County Council officers, and following careful consideration, Durham City Freeman formally objected to the proposal. In our judgement the application contravened several matters in National Policy Planning Guidance and a number of saved policies in the Durham City Local Plan.

The planning application was considered by Durham County Council's planning committee in March 2019 and on behalf of the Freeman I addressed that meeting. The application was approved subject to referral to the Secretary of State.

Subsequently, the Freeman requested, as did other organisations, that the Secretary of State should call in the application and place it with an independent inspector. This request was refused.

Later in the year, Durham Council made application to deregister an area of common land (the former coach park), adjacent to the new civic headquarters, now being constructed and provide replacement land east of the Rivergreen Centre. Following further consideration, it was agreed to oppose this deregistration. Discussions are ongoing with the City of Durham Parish Council, who are also objecting, having regard to the public interest as regards accessibility and distance of the proposed replacement land from the Sands. At the time of writing a decision is awaited from the Planning Inspectorate.

Trustees work closely with the Wardens supporting their operational and development work, and when appropriate acting as a critical friend.

In recent years the Freeman have become increasingly proactive in the community, establishing apprenticeships, involvement with civic occasions, promoting local history, providing grant aid to community organisations through our charitable arm and developing links with other Freeman bodies throughout England and Wales.

You will read of this work elsewhere in the yearbook, which is in addition to the Wardens key responsibilities for maintaining the register of Freeman and organising the admission of new Freeman and Freewomen in accordance with statutory provisions

Sustainability in essentially voluntary organisations is always a challenge. During the year trustees offered advice and support to the Wardens as they deliberated this important topic. At their request I chaired a consultation with Freeman and later, together with the vice chair and clerk and recorder, oversaw a ballot of admitted Freeman on the Warden's proposal.

Centuries old institutions remain of relevance through their ability to accommodate change while being respectful of tradition. As with our predecessors, that continues to be a focus for Trustees, Wardens and admitted Freeman

Treasurers Report

Twelve months ago, I was reporting on a roller coaster year. Financially, this has continued through 2019, though not always as expected.

The debate over the relocation of the Durham County Headquarters has not abated, though it has broadened considerably. The need to hold liquid funds remained constant and we remain so for the foreseeable future.

Our investment portfolio has been impacted by market changes around the world as we maintain an actively managed and diverse book of investments. The let up in the US/China trade war was welcomed around the world, even though it is only provisional. Towards the end of the year there was clarity over Brexit with a working majority in government.

Our portfolio grew by 13.3% as growth funds replaced income bonds. As I write the expected income yield for 2020 is 2.52%, plus an expected sustained upward movement in growth across the board.

The Freeman will continue to support local charitable and skill-based initiatives through the charitable trust and all returns and reports to the Charity Commission are up to date.

Stewart Atkin

Charitable Trust Report

The Charitable Trust, the charitable giving arm of the Freeman, continues to support local organisations and communities.

The Trust currently comprises of the following Members:

Eric Bulmer (Freeman) Chairman
Stewart Atkin (Trustee) Treasurer
Alan Ribchester (Freeman) Secretary
John Booth (Freeman)
Joe McElwee (Freeman) resigned April 2019

During 2019 the "Trust" provided support to the following organisations;

Durham Pointers

£600 was awarded to the Durham Pointers to enable them to replace the pink tabards worn by volunteers. The 'Trust' provided a grant for the original tabards about three years ago.

The new tabards as well as having the Freeman logo, will also display the words Durham City Freeman. We are pleased to continue to support a committed group of 70 volunteers who provide an invaluable service to the city, its community and visitors, especially as the heritage of the 'Freemen' is embedded in the history of Durham, a city of which we are all immensely proud.

Mayors Charity (£1000)

The Charitable Trust continues to support the Mayor's Charity. A cheque for £1000 was presented to the Mayor, Counsellor Katie Corrigan at the Annual Dinner. The Mayor's nominated charity is the Cheesy Waffles Project.

Durham Rotary Project - Marketplace Defibrillator

A cheque for £800 (half the cost) towards the cost of a defibrillator, was presented to Tom Sharples of Durham Elvet Rotary at the Annual Dinner.

The defibrillator, which has an outer covering that displays the Freeman's logo, will be situated in the Marketplace.

It is anticipated that the equipment will be in place by Easter 2020.

Remembrance Parade (£500)

Once again the Charitable Trust has granted £500 towards the mounting of the Remembrance Parade in the City. 8 Wardens and 8 Freeman represented our organisation as part of this year's civic procession.

A cheque was presented to Arthur Lockyear (representing the Advisory Group of the Durham City Remembrance Parade) at the Annual Dinner.

Age UK

A grant of £250 was awarded Age UK, to support the development of a new Community Shed initiative in Belmont. It provides a local hub for people of all ages to take part in practical activities, including furniture upcycling, craft and woodcraft.

Hawthorn House

Hawthorn House provides respite care for people over the age of 16 with complex health needs and behavioural problems, which is a vital support for their families who care for them at home.

The Charitable Trust granted £250 to the 'Amenity Fund' of a group of volunteers, that will enable them to purchase accessories including pictures posters etc to create an environment that is both stimulating and relaxing.

During our visit when we presented the cheque, we were impressed by the dedication of the staff, in creating a wonderful friendly environment for some of the most vulnerable members of our community

St Margaret's Centre

The centre supports attendees recovering from mental illness. The numbers attending at St Margaret's Centre, a former school in the city's Margery Lane, has more than doubled in the past three years. As a result of increasing demand for their services, managers want to install a computerised database at a cost of £2500.

The Charitable Trust granted £500 towards the purchase cost of the equipment.

The 'Trust' are aware that the quality of the therapy delivered by staff and volunteers is outstanding and had no hesitation in offering our continuing support.

Solan Connor Fawcett Family Trust (registered charity)

The charity was set up by Mark Solan following the death of his mother. As a result of the impact on his family he decided to set up the charity in 2015 to support local families, where a bereavement from cancer has occurred.

The charity supports families in a variety of ways including financial support through assisting with household bills etc.

The 'Trust' are pleased to support this amazing charity, developed and driven by the tremendous enthusiasm of Mark and his volunteers. It is firmly based in the community, reaching out and supporting individuals and their families at a most difficult time in their lives. The Charitable Trust awarded a grant of £250.

Sponsored University Apprentice

I am pleased to confirm that Steven Hay, the University apprentice that the Freeman have sponsored for the past three years, He he has now completed his apprenticeship and attained an NVQ level 3 in Bench Joinery.

Steven is part of a specialist team that maintains the heritage buildings under the auspices of the University, these include the Castle and buildings on the peninsular.

We congratulate Steven on his success and hope to see him join the ranks of the Freeman in the near future.

Freemen Website

The Durham City Freemen website, is a key asset in recording and celebrating the activities of the Freemen. It provides timely information posted virtually as it happens and has proven to be the most cost effective way of communicating information to the public at large and our membership, no matter where they live in the world. Serving to raise the profile of the Freemen on a daily basis.

Given the importance of this asset, we will continue to develop the resource into the future, ensuring the site is easy to manage, secure and future proof.

These are small compressed images suitable for viewing on web pages. If you require larger images suitable for printing they can be obtained free of charge by contacting Geoff by email at: geoffkitson8@yahoo.co.uk

Accompanying Geoff's photography, we are extremely fortunate to have the services of George Oliver, a former trustee and now a Gentleman Freeman, who provides the copy for all our news articles, not only posted on the website, but often published in the local press.

Their combined efforts continue to raise a positive profile for our organisation.

Moving Forward

Leaving 2019 and all its difficulties behind, I believe we can now look forward to the inevitable challenges that lie ahead, but can do so the sense of purpose, optimism and renewed energy.

I say this with a level of confidence that springs from the introduction of Deputy Wardens and a strengthening of the management team.

Once we have in place a new structure, we will double the current management team. This will share the administrative workload, and release individuals to concentrate on the development of our organisation, allowing us to focus down on a number of key aims that include:

- Publicising the history and heritage of the Freeman and Guilds
- Raising the profile of the Freeman and the work of the Charitable Trust within the community.
- Continuing to engage with our membership.

We will begin to address these fundamental tenets of the Freeman, by finalising the project of the History Group with the publication of a 'Brief History' of our 8 remaining Companys/Guilds, which should be of great interest, not only to our members, but also to the community of Durham and its visitors.

With an expanded management team we will be able to devote more time to the development of our organisation and also accept more invitations to speak to local community groups and raise our profile.

This year is a particularly good year if you are in the Butchers' Company as it is the 500th anniversary of the granting of their charter and we cannot let the opportunity pass without celebrating it in some way. So no matter which Company of the Freeman you are a member of, please come forward and become involved in our organisation and ensure that we continue to thrive.
